1. Aims

We aim to education our children about relationships on the basis of fact as set out by the UK Government.

As a minimum requirement set out by the UK government, our relationships teaching must at least cover the areas set out in Department of Education's National Curriculum for Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education.

(https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment\_data/file/908013/Relationships\_Education\_Relationships\_and\_Sex\_Education\_RSE\_and\_Health\_Education.pdf ).

The aims of our Relationships and Health Education at Acomb First School are to:

- ✓ Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- ✓ Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of human development and the importance of health and hygiene
- ✓ Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- ✓ Ensure teaching shares the facts about family relationships in our world today
- ✓ Teach our children about relationships without sharing staff or teacher's personal opinion around relationships
- ✓ Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies

2. Statutory Requirements

As a first school we must provide Relationships and Health Education to all pupils as per section 34 of the children and Social work act 2017. Secondary schools are responsible for delivering Relationships and Sex Education.

At Acomb First School, we teach Relationships and Health Education as set out in this policy.

3. Policy Development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a member of staff or working group pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance
2. Staff consultation – all school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations and tailor provision to meet pupil needs
3. Parent/stakeholder consultation – any interested parties are invited to comment on the draft policy.
4. Pupil consultation – we will explore what pupils want from their Relationships and Health education
5. Ratification – once amendments are made, the policy will be shared with governors and ratified.

4. Definition

Relationships and Health Education is not about the promotion of any family structure or sexual activity / preferences.

Relationships and Health Education is about the emotional, social, physical, cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity.

Relationships and Health Education involves a combination of sharing information, and exploring issues and values.

5. Curriculum

Our curriculum is set out as per Appendix 1 but we may need to adapt it as and when necessary.

We have developed the curriculum in consultation with parents, pupils and staff, considering the age, needs and feelings of pupils. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner so they are fully informed and don't seek answers online.

Primary education will focus on:

- ✓ Preparing boys and girls for the changes that adolescence and puberty brings. We do not cover how a baby is conceived and born in these sessions.
- ✓ How a baby is conceived and how it grows inside the mother's uterus.
- ✓ Labelling internal and external parts of the male and female anatomy (that are necessary for making a baby)

Parents have the right to withdraw their child/ren from these sessions. The school will contact parents prior to these sessions taking place (see Appendix 3).

For more information about our Relationships and Health Education curriculum, see our full curriculum map in Appendix 1.

6. Delivery of Relationships and Health Education

Relationships and Health Education is taught within the personal, social, health and economic (PSHE) education curriculum. Biological aspects of Relationships and Health Education are taught within the science curriculum, and other aspects are included in religious education (RE), for example wedding ceremonies.

Pupils also receive stand-alone sessions on adolescence and puberty delivered by trained health professionals from Northumberland Council's School Nursing team. This ensures that all children across Northumberland have the same information and lesson content. Parents have the right to withdraw their child/ren from these sessions (see Appendix 3). The school will contact parents prior to these sessions taking place.

Relationships and Health Education focuses on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships including:

- ✓ Families and people who care for me
- ✓ Caring friendships
- ✓ Respectful relationships Online relationships and how to behave online
- ✓ Being Safe

For more information and detail about these key areas of our Relationships and Health Education curriculum, see Appendices 1 and 2.

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parent, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

7. Roles and Responsibilities

7.1 The Local Governing Body

The board of governors will approve the Relationships and health Education policy, and hold the headteacher to account for its implementation.

7.2 Headteacher

The Headteacher is responsible for ensuring that Relationships and Health Education is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from the non-statutory components (changes in adolescence and conception) of Relationships and Health Education (see section 8).

7.3 Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- ✓ Ensuring all Relationships and Health Education is factual. No promotion or bias towards particular family / relationship structures will be permitted within teaching
- ✓ Delivering Relationships and Health Education in a sensitive way
- ✓ Modelling positive attitudes to Relationships and Health Education
- ✓ Not sharing (and therefore possibly promoting) their personal relationships structures
- ✓ Monitoring progress
- ✓ Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- ✓ Responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-statutory components (changes in adolescence and conception) components of Relationships and Health Education

Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching relationships and Health Education. Staff who have concerns about teaching Relationships and Health Education are encouraged to discuss this with the Headteacher. All teachers and teaching assistants will teach parts of the Relationships and Health Education curriculum, as outlined in this policy.

7.4 Pupils

Although parents can withdraw their child/ren from specific elements (adolescence, puberty and conception) of Relationships and Health Education, pupils are expected to engage fully in Relationships and Health Education. When discussion issues related to Relationships and Health Education, pupils are expected to treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Parents' Right to Withdraw

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their children from all aspects of Relationships and Health Education. However, parents do have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory (changes in adolescence, conception and puberty) within our KS2 curriculum.

The school will contact parents prior to these sessions taking place.

Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from these sessions.

9. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of Relationships and Health Education and training is included in our continuing professional development calendar.

The headteacher will also invite visitors from outside the school, such as Newcastle City Council's school nursing team professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching Relationships and Health Education.

10. Monitoring Arrangements

The delivery of Relationships and Health Education is monitored by Hannah Williamson (headteacher) through:

- ✓ Learning walks
- ✓ Lesson observations
- ✓ Planning checks
- ✓ Pupil workbooks checks
- ✓ Pupil / staff surveys

Pupils/ development in Relationships and Health Education is monitored by PSCHE teacher and TAs as part of our internal assessment systems.

This policy will be reviewed annually by Hannah Williamson. At every review, the policy will be approved by the Full Governing Body.

Appendix 3: Withdrawal from Changes in Adolescence Education

Dear _____,

We believe that promoting the health and well-being of our pupils is an important part of their overall education. We do this through our Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) course. This looks at many topics including all kinds of relationships, physical / emotional health and living in the wider world. The aim of the PSHE course is to help our pupils make safe and informed decisions during their school years and beyond.

Sex and Relationship Education (SRE) is an important part of the PSHE course. We will be teaching lessons about SRE in the Summer 2 term which will include topics such as (puberty; relationships and communication skills; conception, body image.) During the course, pupils will be able to ask questions, which will be answered factually and in an age appropriate manner. Each pupil's privacy will be respected, and no one will be asked to reveal personal information.

Some parts of SRE are compulsory - these are part of the National Curriculum for Science. Parents can withdraw their children from all other parts of SRE if they wish to do so. However, we believe that the presentation of sexual images in social and other media make it important that all young people have a place to discuss pressures, check facts and dispel myths. Even if a child is withdrawn, many pupils will discuss such issues with each other outside the classroom – so, rather than hear about the content second-hand, we hope all children will have the opportunity to take part in our carefully planned lessons.

Many parents and parent-related organisations support good quality SRE in school. Parents are the most important educators of young people in personal issues and many welcome the support that school can offer to supplement their home teaching.

You may find that your child starts asking questions about the topic at home, or you might want to take the opportunity to talk to your child about issues before the work is covered in school. If you have any queries about the content of the programme or resources used, please do not hesitate in contacting me at school. All materials used are available for you to browse through should you so wish.

Parents' Right to Withdraw

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their children from all aspects of Relationships and Health Education. However, parents do have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory components (changes in adolescence and puberty) within our KS2 curriculum.

The school will contact parents prior to these sessions taking place.

Yours sincerely,
